IN MEROIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear uncle, Arthur Cyrus, who departed this life four years ago, Aug. 5, 1955.
God gave me a wonderful uncle,
One of the world's very best.
And when on earth his work was done,
God called him home to rest.
They say time heals all sorrow,
And helps us to forget;
But time so far has only proved,
How much I miss him yet.

Mr. Adolphus Cyrus.

"The Civil War Story"

'last I saw of dear little Johnnie he was in front'

(Editor's note: Many families treasure as heirlooms letters written by Confederate soldiers. The Grandfather of Mrs. Calvin Robinson, Capt. Billy Patteson, was in the War and at The Crater in Petersburg. The following letter was written from that battle scene by an Appomattox soldier, Clifton V. Webb, and describes the death of Johnnie Patteson, brother of Capt. Billy Patteson. We have the original of this letter).

June 4th, 1864.

Dear Cousin Martha,

Yours of May 30th came to hand yesterday. I was very glad to hear from you all at home. I am always glad to receive a letter from my friends, especially from my relatives. Everything seems to be quiet now at this time. We have moved from the place where Billy came to us. Moved South of Appomattox River about two miles from Petersburg, near the City Point Rail Road. I hardly know how to answer your very kind letter. I saw Johnnie just before we charged the Yankee's rifle pits. He looked a little serious as well as all of us. I got up and walked down the line just before orders came to us to charge and all I saw excepting one looked serious and that was poor Mike. He talked as cheerful as if he was at home. I don't remember saying anything to Johnnie at all, as I had my seriousness on me alen I never had such a feeling on me before as I remember.

In line of battle as we were, Johnnie was some twenty-five or thirty yards from me when order came to charge, and we all jumped out with a cheer and ran across a field some eight hundred to a thousand yards wide and drove the Yankees from their entrenchments. The last I saw of Dear little Johnnie, he was in front of me and was first to leap the Yankee rifle pits. I believe all give him credit of being foremost in the fight. If we had of just stopped at the rifle pits, we would not have lost a man, but our boys, not satisfied with what ground they gained, advanced some hundred yards further, and there's where we lost our boys. The Yankees commenced throwing grape and canister in to us so hot and fast we were obliged to fall back to their rifle pits and there they aimed to shell us out, but to no effect. We were there and we staid there and built works to suit our own notion.

When Johnnie fell, I did not see him. We were obliged to let him remain on the field until dark to get him off. Soon futer we were ordered on the right and the Capt. went after him after dark, and the boys ran a great risk in getting him then, as the Yankees were shooting all night long.

I have enquired after his pocketbook, but John Hancock told me Johnnie had none in his pocket, for he examined his pockets himself, and gave the things to Marion Wilkerson. Anything I can do for you all in remembrance of Johnnie, I will do it with pleasure.

I am very much obligged to you for your kind wishes for my everlasting safety. I am trying to be a better man.

I remain as ever, your true friend,

Clifton V. Webb.

(Note: The original of above letter was given us by Mrs. Willie Beale, a close relative of the Patteson family).

Local Firm To Build New Baptist Church

The local building firm of J. E. Jamerson & Sons has been awarded a contract to build the new sanctuary of the Rustburg Baptist Church. Work on the $45,000 project will begin this week. The new church will be located on the site of the present edifice, in the town of Rustburg, Approximately 6 months will be required for completion. Construction will be of brick veneer, featuring a front of ceramic tile as a background for a steel Cresse. Laminated wood arches will feature the interior, with exposed decking.

This firm recently completed the new sanctuary of the Trinity Methodist Church, this county.

Cress & Johnson are architects for this project.

Demonstration Club Schedule

One meeting of Home Demonstration Clubs is scheduled for next week. On Thursday, Aug. 27, the Clover Hill Club will meet at 6:00 P. M., with Mrs. Verna Conner. The members and their families are invited to attend and bring picnic supper.

CORN LIELDS GO UP WITH USE OF THE HYBRID VARIETIES

Corn yields in Virginia have increased sharply along with the increase in use of hybrid seed, report agronomists at VPI.

In 1943, the average yield per acre in the state was 25 bushels. That same year, only 15.1 per cent of the corn acreage was planted with hybrid seed. In 1958, the average yield has risen to 53 bushels, while the amount of the crop planted to hybrids has risen to 91 per cent.

The agronomists forecast that within a few years, virtually all Virginia's corn crop will be planted with hybrid seed.

There have been a few years in the 1943-58 period when the corn yield fell sharply, but those were the drought years of 1952, 1953, 1954, and 1957. Generally the trend has been up.

The agronomists also note that the number of acres in corn has dropped sharply. Virginia farmers harvested 1,345,000 corn acres in 1943. By 1958, the acreage had dropped to 773,000.

CHURCH GROUP TO SELL MARKERS AS PROJECT FOR BUILDING FUND

1960 Conservation Reserve Program

An average state payment rate of $16 per acre and a Virginia acreage goal of 31,000 acres has been announced for the 1960 Conservation Reserve program, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) State Committee has announced.

The annual average county payment rate next year will be the same as the 1959 average, but the acreage goal is less than half the amount of land placed under 1959 Conservation Reserve contracts. County rates vary up and down from the state average as do individual farm rates within a county, depending upon the rental value and productivity of the designated land.

The basic national payment rate is $13.50 per acre and the tentative national goal for new contracts signed for 1960 is 5,000,000 acres.

Farmers have from August 24 through September 10, to request county ASC committees to establish basic per - acre annual payment rates for land which they designate for the Conservation Reserve, W. T. Powers, ASC State Administrative Officer noted He said that a later period, Sept. 14 through Sept. 25, has been set for farmers to file applications for Conservation Reserve contracts.

As in other years since 1956, Conservation Reserve contracts may be signed for periods up to 10 years, Powers said, and he pointed out that cost-share government payments will be available to help pay for establishing conservation practices on land in the Reserve.

Powers gave figures to show that under the 1959 Conservation Reserve program Virginia farmers put nearly 72,000 acres under contracts with payments aggregating $1,582,000.

Farmers interested in retiring part or all of their land under a Conservation Reserve contract, should visit the county ASC office to have all details of the program explained.

At that time, ASC asks that farmers come prepared to give some figures on crop yields and acreages for the past five years.

Bloodmobile Scheduled To Visit Here

A visit by the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be made to Appomattox on Monday, August 24, at Liberty Baptist Church, between the hours of 11:00 A. M. and 5:00 P. M.

The quota for this visit is 125 pints. Previous quotas have been 115 pints, but owing to the fact that Appomattox County has had such a large draw on the blood supply, and has never met its quota, this quota increase has been made necessary.

It is hoped that the people of Appomattox County will readily respond to this project, as the blood bank must be kept stocked to meet the needs as they arrive.

It is urged that precious recipients of blood encourage a number of prospective donors to help meet this need.

Special Postage Stamp

Supporters of the Robert E. Lee Soil Conservation District and persons interested in commemorative stamps will be able to purchase a 4-cent Soil Conservation Stamp locally starting August 27, John C. Cole, District Supervisor, said today.

Although the Post Office Department is printing 120 million copies of the 3-color Soil Conservation stamp, which portrays a modern conservation farm, the edition won't last long, Mr. Cole predicted.

The stamp is being issued at Rapid City, S. D., on August 26, as a tribute to conservation farmers and ranchers, their local soil conservation district, and the professional conservationists of state and federal agencies who assist them.

"I'm sure that most everyone in Appomattox County will want to buy these colorful and historical stamps when they go on sale here," Mr. Cole said.

Those who are interested in a "first-day cover," a souvenir envelope, can mail addressed envelopes plus a remittance for postage, to the postmaster at Rapid City, S. D., who will place the Soil Conservation stamp on the envelopes cancel with a special cancellation mark used only on that day and at that place, and mail as addressed anywhere in the country, Mr. Cole pointed out.

NO DEAL

Oldham, England.- Thieves stole a television set, hair drier, pressure cooker, electric toaster, vacuum cleaner and some baggage from Mrs. Joyce Willerton, of this small English town. They apparently, were not satisfied with their loot, because a week later she found all of the articles piled neatly in the back yard of her home.

McCann Is Named To Federal Post

. . .. Frank M. McCann

The Times-Virginian has been informed that Mr. Frank M. McCann, local attorney, has been appointed as an Assistant United States District Attorney for the Western District of Virginia. Mr. McCann plans to go to Roanoke Friday to qualify and assume his duties.

The United States, in matters of judicial procedure, is divided into Federal Districts, and Virginia is divided into an Eastern and a Western District, bisecting the state. Appomattox, Cumberland and Buckingham, and all counties and cities westward, are in the Western District. Hon. John Strickler, of Roanoke, is U. S. District Attorney for the Western District. He has three Assistants. To fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of one of the Assistants, Mr. McCann was appointed by the U. S. Department of Justice, on recommendation of Mr. Strickler.

In an interview with The Times-Virginian, McCann said that this will be a full-time work, and will terminate his local practice of law during the period he serves as Assistant District Attorney. His law office here will remain open temporarily, and Mr. McCann stated that for the time being he will continue his residence here, and eventually plans to return to pursue his career in his profession in Appomattox.

HOME COMING AT PINEY RIDGE CHURCH

There will be Home-coming at the Piney Ridge Methodist Church on August 30. Rev. Donald S. Clark, of Winchester, Va., will be the guest speaker for the morning services. After lunch, song services will be led by the pastor, Rev. Price.

Everyone is invited.

DROUGHT INCREASES IMPORTANCE OF PASTURE

Dry weather in June has made winter pastures more important than usual in many areas of Virginia.

Agronomists at VPI point out that farmers who are short of hay and silage for this winter's feeding would be wise to seed some small grain for late fall and early spring grazing.

Regardless of the season, winter grazing is, or can be, an important part of the forage system on most Virginia dairy and livestock farms, the agronomists say.

They advise seeding small grain between mid-August and mid - September. If seeded by mid-September there is still enough growing season left to provide some grazing before winter. A mixture of rye and barley, or rye alone, will usually provide more grazing than other small grains. Seed rye alone at the rate of 1½ to 2 bushels per acre, and the barley - rye or other small grain mixture at the rate of 2 to 4 bushels per acre. In areas where adapted, 15 pounds of crimson clover and 15 pounds of rye grass may be added. Fertilize with 600 to 800 pounds of 10-10-10, or the equivalent.

Seek Books For New Prince Edward School

An urgent appeal has been made for books and quality magazines to be made available for use in the new schools to be conducted this year by the Prince Edward Education Foundation. Private schools will be conducted in Prince Edward, and the Foundation is in immediate need of a library.

Miss Kate O'Brien, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F Allen O'Brien, of Appomattox, is Librarian for the Farmville school. In an interview Sunday with The Times-Virginian, Miss O'Brien asked that friends in Appomattox give or loan books for the new school. If the books are to be on loan, a list must be furnished and the books so marked.

The Times-Virginian is willing to offer its services as a collection point for such books. Bring them to The Times-Virginian, and we see that they reach Miss O'Brien. Prompt action is necessary.

Greatly needed are reference books, encyclopedias, all standard books of literature, history, science and the arts, dictionaries, etc, as well as quality magazines.

Magazines listed as acceptable are Readers Digest, Saturday Evening Post, News Week, Time, Life, Popular Mechanics, National Geographic, Good Housekeeping, etc.

Over 2,500 books are needed at once.

Bring in the books this weekend, immediately on receipt of this appeal. Note: In event The Times-Virginian office is closed when you bring in the books, leave same with Mrs. H. G. Johnson at Inge's Department Store, and we will see that they reach Farmville.
